WHOOPING COUGH IS * ABOVE AVERAGE IN TEXAS AT PRESENT

AUSTIN, June 19.—(Spl.)—A statement released today by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer, indicates that the incidence of wheoping cough in Texas is at present almost three times as high as the seven year median.

"Prevention and control of

as the seven year median.

"Prevention and control of whooping cough, especially among infants and small children, may be accomplished through use of approved vaccine and convalescent serum," Dr. Cox asserted, "and it is important that such measures be taken to protect them. Neglecting to do so, and allowing the young child to suffer an attack of this disease may seriously impair his future health."

"The infectious agent or germ of whooping cough, is transmitted by droplets expelled in coughing, sneezing, or speaking," Dr. Cox said. "The discharges from the nose and throat are dangerous to susceptible persons: the need for early recognition and careful isolation of whooping cough is obvious."

The first sign of this disease is usually a dry cough, which persists day and night and tends to become increasingly severe. The disease is fully developed when vomiting of food and whooping accompany the paroxysm of cough. Dr. Cox stressed the fact that children who have whooping cough should not attend school

FOR A SAFER TEXAS—Effective Sept. 5, some 3 million drivers and almost 2 million vehicles will travel under the Uniform Traffic Code of 32 states. Sponsored by the Texas Safety Association and endorsed by Governor Jester, the measure was signed Wednesday in the presence of its authors: Sen. Fred Harris, left, and Rep. Joe Kilgore, right. Center is George Clark, Association director.

Along with 51 other Air Force of-ficers from Hensley Field he is tak-ing the Reserve Corps program of 15 days active duty. They were re-called from inactive duty, the fore-runners of 1,000 officers and men who will take part in the summer

Three flights of stairs lead into the palace. And on each side of each stair is another veiled lovely, crouching humbly. It's sensational—makes a new thing out of stair climbing.

In a reception hall roughly the size of a football stadium is your host—handsome, 34-year old Hamid, who speaks perfect English. Maybe you better bring the wife along, too. He's the dark-haired descendant of an adventurous Arabian seafarer who had the foresight to go into the Sultan business back in the 18th century.

TRAGIC END OF ANCIENT NATION HIGHLIGHTS ZIONISM'S WAR*

Fall of Kingdom of Judah, Destruction of Jerusalem, Captivity and Exile to Babylonia -- All Fraught With Modern Significance --The Morals of a Nation Affect Its Fate

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS and EARL L. DOUGLASS

Old Struggle Continues
Again and again the Jews strugeled for a restored national life,

Again and again the Jews struggled for a restored national life, and were partially successful for ids, under Nehemiah and Maccabees. But for two and a half milleniums, their lot has been that of exiles and sufferers. Every nation that sheltered them eventually turned them out.

Today, with the plight of the displaced Jew of Europe one of the high tragedies of history, they are making an effort to become again a nation. Their struggle is highlighted by terrorism and death. The native Moslem-Christian population of Palestine, which outnumbers the Jews two to one, are the descendants of the people who occupied the land before the who occupied the land before the days of Joshua.

As these lines are being written, the United Nations Assembly is trying to find a solution of the old problem of the homeless Hebrews. A Nation's Morale

A Nation's Morale

Modern commentators, who write so voluminously upon current affairs, miss the significance of the fact that the morals of a nation determine ultimately its fate. The Jews were punished, as Scripture so explicitly and repeatly states, because they had sinned against the clear law of Jehovah.
Lured by the sensual practices of idolatry, the Chosen People fell away to an imitation of their heathen neighbors. King after king defied the clear moral precepts of the Jehovah who had delivered them from Egypt.

Occasionally, the dark roster is brighteneed by a story of a good king. The graph of Jewish history, is a succession of high points of return to obedience and low stretches of clear disregard of the beneficent, social and spiritual decrees of a patient God.

Even at the end of its history, Judah was warned concerning the course of safety by the prophet Jeremiah. Instead of heeding him, the government hounded and persecuted him out of his homeland.
It is serious business for any set of politicians to disregard the moral monitions of the preachers.

For the proposition that lies

It is serious business for any set of politicians to disregard the moral monitions of the preachers.

For the proposition that lies underneath the Law of the eternal integrities: is that the fate of a nation is bound up with the moral character of its people. That is character of its people. That is not many thoughtful persons look with alarm upon the present wave of spiritual and moral delinquency in our society.

Individuals and Nations

In a day of falling empires—the real significance and portents of which comparatively few persons seem to understand—we may well turn again to these last chapters a newspaper in one hand and a Bible in the other. The tragic tale of the final fall of Jerusalem and Judah meshes into the news from I Palestine that has place in every day's issue of the press.

Here we have the end of the Hebrew hopes; and today, possibly, the beginning of a new life for throughout twenty-five centuries has been a tale of suffering and simple. The Chosen People turned their backs upon Jehovah, their Lord and Deliverer, and followed their backs upon Jehovah, their Lord and Deliverer, and followed after heathen idols and pagan practices of oppression, injustice, irreligion, and all iniquity.

Warned times without number by the prophets of God concerning the fate that waited upon their continual disodedience, the Jews at last saw thier capital city destroyed by Nebuchádnezzar and their people deported down into the hot plains of Babylonia. The price of sin is written large in the narrative.

seem to understand—we may well turn again to these last chapters of the Second Book of Kings to discover the relationship between godlessness and disaster. A nation cannot permanently continue to prosper while any of its people are being oppressed and exploited. The fires of revolt that are blasing around the world today were not kindled yesterday, but throughout the years when injustice prevailed almost unrebuked, and when the few grew fat on the sufferings of the many.

Photos and reference also were included in the April inspection trips throughout the Cotton Belt System, including a snapshot of Judge Berryman Henwood, St. Louis, trustee of the System, at Corsicana during a stop at the Union Station, and the interchange of the Cotton Belt and Southern Pacific Lines.

Another feature was an interior view of the Corsicana freight station made years ago, submitted by E. R. Crotty, now of Tyler, clerk here for a number of years. Seen the picture were J. A. canal.
Clay removed from the canal bed is utilized to build the roadbed for the super-highway.
On the eight-mile strip, the highway department is spending $500,000 and the drainage district

$300,000. Considered "Amphibious."

Heretofore, dredge boats were built primarily for digging turning basins, canals and ship channels.
In coastal areas, however, highway construction sometimes assumes the proportions of an amphibious operation and around 1920 someone conceived the idea of dredging a canal and using the excavation to build a fill for the highway roadbed.

Such a plan first was tried in the Port Arthur area on the Dryden Ferry road in 1921, a project

HIGHWAY INSPECTORS USE SKIFF—Inspectors for the State highway department use a small skiff to traverse the many canals in the lowlands crossed by the Highway 73 project. J. P. Branch is handling the car; Oscar Coates is his passenger, and Roy Fulkerson, Jr., is helping them land. The water is only two feet deep and will be filled by the dredge which is building the roadbed for the highway between Houston and Port Arthur. (AP Photo) wherein the dredge simply moved into the marsh, dug a canal and dumped the fill along the marsh bottom.

Base Not Good,
Headaches developed for the enginears, however, because of the marsh land's top surface layer of muck" or "gumbo," which is seldom satisfactory base for building operations other than levees.
Building highway roadbeds with dredge boats later was developed fully in Louisiana and is being followed on the Houston-Port Arthur highway eastern terminus as the first project of its kind in Texas.
On this project, however, drag lines "stripped" off the muck and gumbo strata on the highway right-of-way before canal dredging bogan.
Two dredge boats are being used on the project; the Vicksburg, with a 20-inch cutter, and the shirley, with a 16-inch cutter.

Plans have been completed for the 20-miles section of the high way between Port Arthur and Winnie. Contract for the roadbed has been up twice but no bids were submitted. A contract for the roadbed has been up twice but no bids were submitted. A contract for clearing and grubbing is expected to be let this month. A similar contract for the roadbed bas been up twice but no bids were submitted. A contract for the roadbed has been up twice but no bids were submitted. A contract for the roadbed has been up twice but no bids were submitted. A contract for clearing and grubbing is expected to be awarded in July.

The completed four-lane highway, which will provide a direct link between Houston and Port Arthur and grubbing is expected to be awarded in July.

The completed four-lane highway, with half, is expected to cost approximately $25,000,000.

The roadbed proper is being built up from an elevation of 1.5 feet of ground level to an elevation of more than six feet. The road crown will be 7.5 feet elevation. A traffic circle, marking the junction of Highway 73 and Highway 87, will be raised to nine feet.

BROADWAY

By JACK O'BRIAN

YORK-Howard Lindsay NEW YORK—Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse are a couple of good humored gentlemen of the Broadway theater who several years ago confused all their friends by permitting, yes I said permitting, all of them to stick a few bob into their production of "Arsenic and Old Lace."

duction of "Arsenic and Old Lace."

The production subsequently returned some 2,000 percent to its myriad backers. Dick Maney, the famous theatrical press agent, received a fraction of one percent of the show when Bucky Crouse walked in one afternoon, asked him to write a check for several hundred dollars and forthwith announced that Dick now was the owner of his rejuctant fraction. owner of his reluctant fraction.
The few hundred clams afterwards opened the door to a return of some $12,000 to the fortunate

"YOUR THEATER, INC.," put-ting a comedy called "Heads or Tails" into production within a few weeks, has a total of 3,000 backers!

This elaborate financial structure began when the management of the corporation decided a Broadway show could be produced by the simple expedient of selling tickets beforehand to several thousand avid admirers of the legitimate stage who also might like to share in a modest profit should the play become a hit, and whose losses would be quite negligible should it be merely a candidate for Cain's Warehouse.

When it started two years ago, When it started two years ago, Your Theater, Inc., drew a few pessimistic comments, but almost, before you could say Fort Knox, the cash was at hand. Every financial bracket now is represented among the moderate angels. There's a shoe clerk in Toledo with the same investment as a vice-president of the Stock Exchange. Some 142 civic and church organizations have bought blocks of seats as fund raising plans.

TICKETS are scaled approximately the same as you'd pay for any Broadway play. The difference is, of course, that every ticket holder has a financial rooting interest, Anyone can buy the pasteboards; the only restriction is that no one person can hold more than 24, a specification which assures that large blocks will not fall into the hands of speculators.

Should "Heads or Tails," by H. J. Lengsfelder and Ervin Drake, become a hit of seriously large dimension, the profit could be quite considerable. Meanwhile, on the strength of sheer opti-

Congress May Let 's Cash Leave Pay Bonds Soon

WASHINGTON, June 19,-(AP)-Speaker Martin (R-Mass) forecast today that congress will vote at this session to allow war veterans to cash their terminal leave bonds immediately.

His opinion was expressed to newsmen a short time after the house veterans' committee approved a measure to deny Communists or Communist sympathizers veterans' benefits of any kind.

Damage Suit Filed • Seeking $40,500 As Result Of Dog Bite

A damage suit seeking $40,500 for the alleged biting of a man by a dog in the Pisgah Ridge commun-ity, northwest of Richland, Nov. 26, last year, was filed in the office of J. C. Gaston, district clerk, Thursday.

The suit was brought by Leonard

Frost against Glendale Longbottom. The petition maintained the plaintiff was bitten and mauled by a vicious dog belonging to the defendant and fendant and is permanentyl in-jured as a result. The plaintiff states that he has been out $500 in medical care and has undergone two operations. Alleging that he has already lost $5,000 as a result of the incapacitation and that an additional $25,000 loss of earning power will be incurred, Frost asks for $10,000 damages for the pain and suffering experienced, making a total of $40,500 sought. Tyson, Dawson and Dawson are the attorneys filing the suit.

New York Cotton Table New York Cotton Table

NEW YORK, June 19.—69.—Cotton futures were firm in active dealings today.

Trade covering and mill buying was stimulated by an army inquiry for 20,000 bales of cotton, tightness in old crop suppliles and firmness in outside markets

Considerable covering in nearby July, anticipating first notice day took place, June 24, commission house and New Orleans buying in the later deliveries partly reflected expectations of a continued strong statistical position in cotton despite prospects for a substantially larger crop this year.

Prices advanced $2.50 a bale before the market reacted partially on profit taking

New Orleans Cotton Table

NEW ORLEANS, June 19.—(P)—Cotton futures advanced at one time nearly $2.50 a bale in today's active session, but the market encountered considerable profit taking and much of the gain was lost.

Closing prices were steady 85 cents to $1.15 a bale higher.

At the best of the day the July position crossed the 37-cent mark. This sharp rise was attributed to heavy short coveribled.

SELF-GREASING!

The Allis-Chalmers Model C Tractor is automatically greased all the time!

Special sealed reservoirs are packed with grease at the factory. Most of . t '9s need no further attention. All grease fittings are elim. d; the daily greasing chore is no more.

Ten minutes greasing time saved daily totals up to a month in the life of a tractor . . . enough time for a good vacation. In addition you save hundreds of pounds of grease.

Here's real peace of mind, too . . . a tractor you can forget to grease and no harm done.

* INSTANT HYDRAULIC LIFT The last word in hydraulic control de-storage space for the finished products of this concern—rotary drilling rigs and flush pumps. The building will be serviced by a 25-ton crane and a 5-ton auxiliary hoist.

No Supporting Columns.
One of the features of the new unit will be the absence of supporting columns inside the walls. It will consist of a one-piece concrete floor, a steel frame, covered by corrugated siding and roof, similar in appearance and design to the new building erected nearby some time ago. It will be serviced with a railroad siding and the truck loading side on the side.

The new truck loading wharf will be a distinctive safety measure, the plant manager pointed out, in that it will bring the big trucks being loaded with the huge machinery units to a side street for loading alongside Highway 7 to with its attendant heavy traffic and danger of accidents and collisions.

Resting In Honored Glory

Note: The fathers and mothers of all servicemen are, in a sense, heroes of World War II and all wars mankind has waged. For it was their inspiring courage that made their sons and daughters proudly serve and die for their fatherland in the noble attributes of Christianity, democracy, and freedom. Many heroes of the war did not

The War Memorial proposed to be erected on the Courthouse lawn will and shall be the effort and accomplishment of the little man in respecting his honored dead. We seek no large contributions, one man's dollar is as good as his neighbor's effort.

Next week, in this column, will be published a list of Navarro county citizens who have given at least one dollar toward the War Memorial. The educated mind is also the liberal mind.
